HOODLUMISM

Is not peculiar to any one particular country or nation, but is common to many countries and diverse nationalities. True, in some places it is more abundant than in others, and with some environments it thrives better than with others. It seems to be a somewhat modern development of animal life. If not a necessary, it appears to be a natural, outgrowth of "free institutions." Many full-blown specimens of this genus of humanity, in its most ridiculous type, may be found here in Honolulu, where they appear to flourish unchecked. They congregate at certain street corners in the evenings, ogling passers-by with unchaste thoughts and whispers, and later in the day they may be found displaying their folly and recklessness in resorts of vice and infamy. It is grievous to see these youths poisoning their young moral life with foppishness, idleness, vulgarity, and dissipation. The timely exercise of a little more restraint by parents and guardians might have prevented the appearance of this species of human creature, and now that it actually exists in well-defined and unmistakable form, vigorous and frequent external application of the cat-o-nine-tails might do much towards exterminating the pest. Anyhow, we recommend this prescription to the thoughtful consideration of all concerned, having full confidence that, if judiciously applied, it will produce beneficial results.

FURTHER PARTICULARS.

Yesterday we called on Captain Hansen, of the bark Hermann, and inquired as to the correctness of our report of the disaster. From his observations we make the following corrections and additions: Three days after leaving port they encountered a heavy gale, and the short heavy sea which followed caused the vessel to spring a leak. The leak is now a steady one, the depth of water in the hold being alike in fair or foul weather. After continuing three weeks on their passage he determined to put back, and reached here as already described. The vessel is insured, but by whom is not known here. The leak occurred more nearly about 18 N. and 118 W. Surveys will be made, and then it will be known what will be done with the vessel. In the meantime pumping is being carried on night and day, and the deck-load of lumber is being rafted ashore so as to lighten her in the water, that she may be brought in.

THE Y. M. C. A.

On Thursday night held their usual monthly meeting in the Bethel Vestry. There was a good attendance, both of members and visitors. Prof. Pratt occupied the chair. The reports from the numerous Committees were encouraging. Then came the business of the evening—the reading of a paper on "The aims and objects of the Association," by Chief Justice Judd. It was well received, and a good, earnest discussion followed, in which many diverse, and good opinions were given on the desirability of adding some new form of attraction for young men to the Association. The meeting then adjourned after prayer. Next month Mr. F. Damon will present a paper on "What, as a Y. M. C. A., shall we do for the boys of Honolulu?"

LOCAL & GENERAL ITEMS.

T. A. Goodwin was acquitted of the charge of manslaughter yesterday afternoon.

MARCHANT'S new cigars are excellent: we have tried them and say, Go thou and do likewise.

THERE will be a meeting of G. W. DeLong Post G. A. R. to-night. A full attendance is requested.

THE Band will give the second Moonlight concert on Monday evening at Emma Square, at 7:30—weather permitting.

ALL those licensed drivers who haven't yet got their badges are requested to call at the Police Station this morning and get them.

On Thursday an express ran away along King street, and stopped in front of the Government Buildings. No one was in it at the time.

"MAN'S peril and the way of escape," will be Mr. Cruzan's theme Sunday morning, and "Is God angry at the sinner?" in the evening.

J. M. OAT, JR., & Co. are now showing some interesting photographs of the mills, &c., and the crater on Hawaii. The wharf at Honoapoo is a good picture.

THE Rev. G. Wallace will deliver a lecture on Tuesday evening next, in the Hall of the Library & Reading Room Association. Subject: "A fine Art much Neglected."

We again draw our readers' attention to the fact that Dr. Hitchcock is expected by the Mail steamer. Tickets for the course of lectures can now be obtained from the members of the Y. M. C. A.

On Thursday afternoon, as an express with two ladies in it was turning the corner of Fort and King streets the horse stumbled. He slipped along with his head down for some distance and finally fell. No one was injured.

The following officers have been elected by the Directors of the Kapiolani Park Association: Hon. A. S. Cleghorn, President; Dr. J. S. McGrew, Vice-President; H. Macfarlane, Secretary; C. Brown, Treasurer.

DURING the trial of Hana Dr. Stangenwald gave a very complete and succinct resume of the analyses made and performed, experiments on no less than 14 lizards showing conclusively the nature of the poison.

Mr. Wray Taylor will give his tenth Free Organ Recital next Tuesday evening, Jan. 23rd, at St. Andrew's Cathedral, when he will be assisted by Miss Michiels and other talented vocalists.

Some person went into the garden belonging to Mr. Fyfe, on Beretania street, the other day, and not only broke down a number of shrubs, &c. but carried off several very choice and rare plants.

At the departure of the Iwalani yesterday many drunks were to be seen. Many of the sailors were put on board drunk. Mr. Foster took two bottles of liquor from two of them and broke them on the wharf.

LIVELY work was shown in getting off the steamer James Makee on Thursday. At five minutes to 1 p. m. the captain was notified to get ready to go out to sea and tow in the Hermann. By 1:15 p. m. steam was up, and 600 bags of coal and some other heavy freight were put on board, as ballast.

On Tuesday last Mr. J. Hayselden and his father had a narrow escape from a fatal accident in Nuuanu st. They were in their buggy when the horse suddenly became restive, and, turning sharp, locked the wheels. As the carriage was tipping over both jumped out. The shafts were smashed and further damage would have been done if Marshal Parke, who was near, had not stopped the horse.

In connection with the trial of Hana, for poisoning her husband, it may be mentioned that it was suspected that she had obtained the poison from a Chinaman. To test whether this could be done or not a man was sent round, who procured from a Chinese drug store a quantity of nue vomica, ready for use, and bi-sulphuret of arsenic; of each enough to kill 10 to 20 persons. He got it under pretense of wanting to poison a dog. It appears to us that a strict supervision should be exercised over the sale of such drugs.

"LAUGH and grow fat," says the old and familiar adage, and the people of Honolulu will have an opportunity of indulging in a side-shaking laugh this evening, in the Music Hall, for the sum of one dollar, that may be worth more to their general health than ten times that value of doctors' physic. The Hawaiian Amateur Minstrel Troupe have been diligently rehearsing for several weeks past, and will exhibit the result of their practice at the time and place just indicated. Solos, duets, choruses, dances, speeches, and farces make up the programme; and we confidently promise the public, on behalf of the minstrels, their money's worth, and probably a little more.
